

Dockstore

Create, Share, Use

Dockstore facilitates the sharing and portability of biomolecular analysis algorithms by allowing bioinformaticians to describe workflows using popular languages and Docker images.

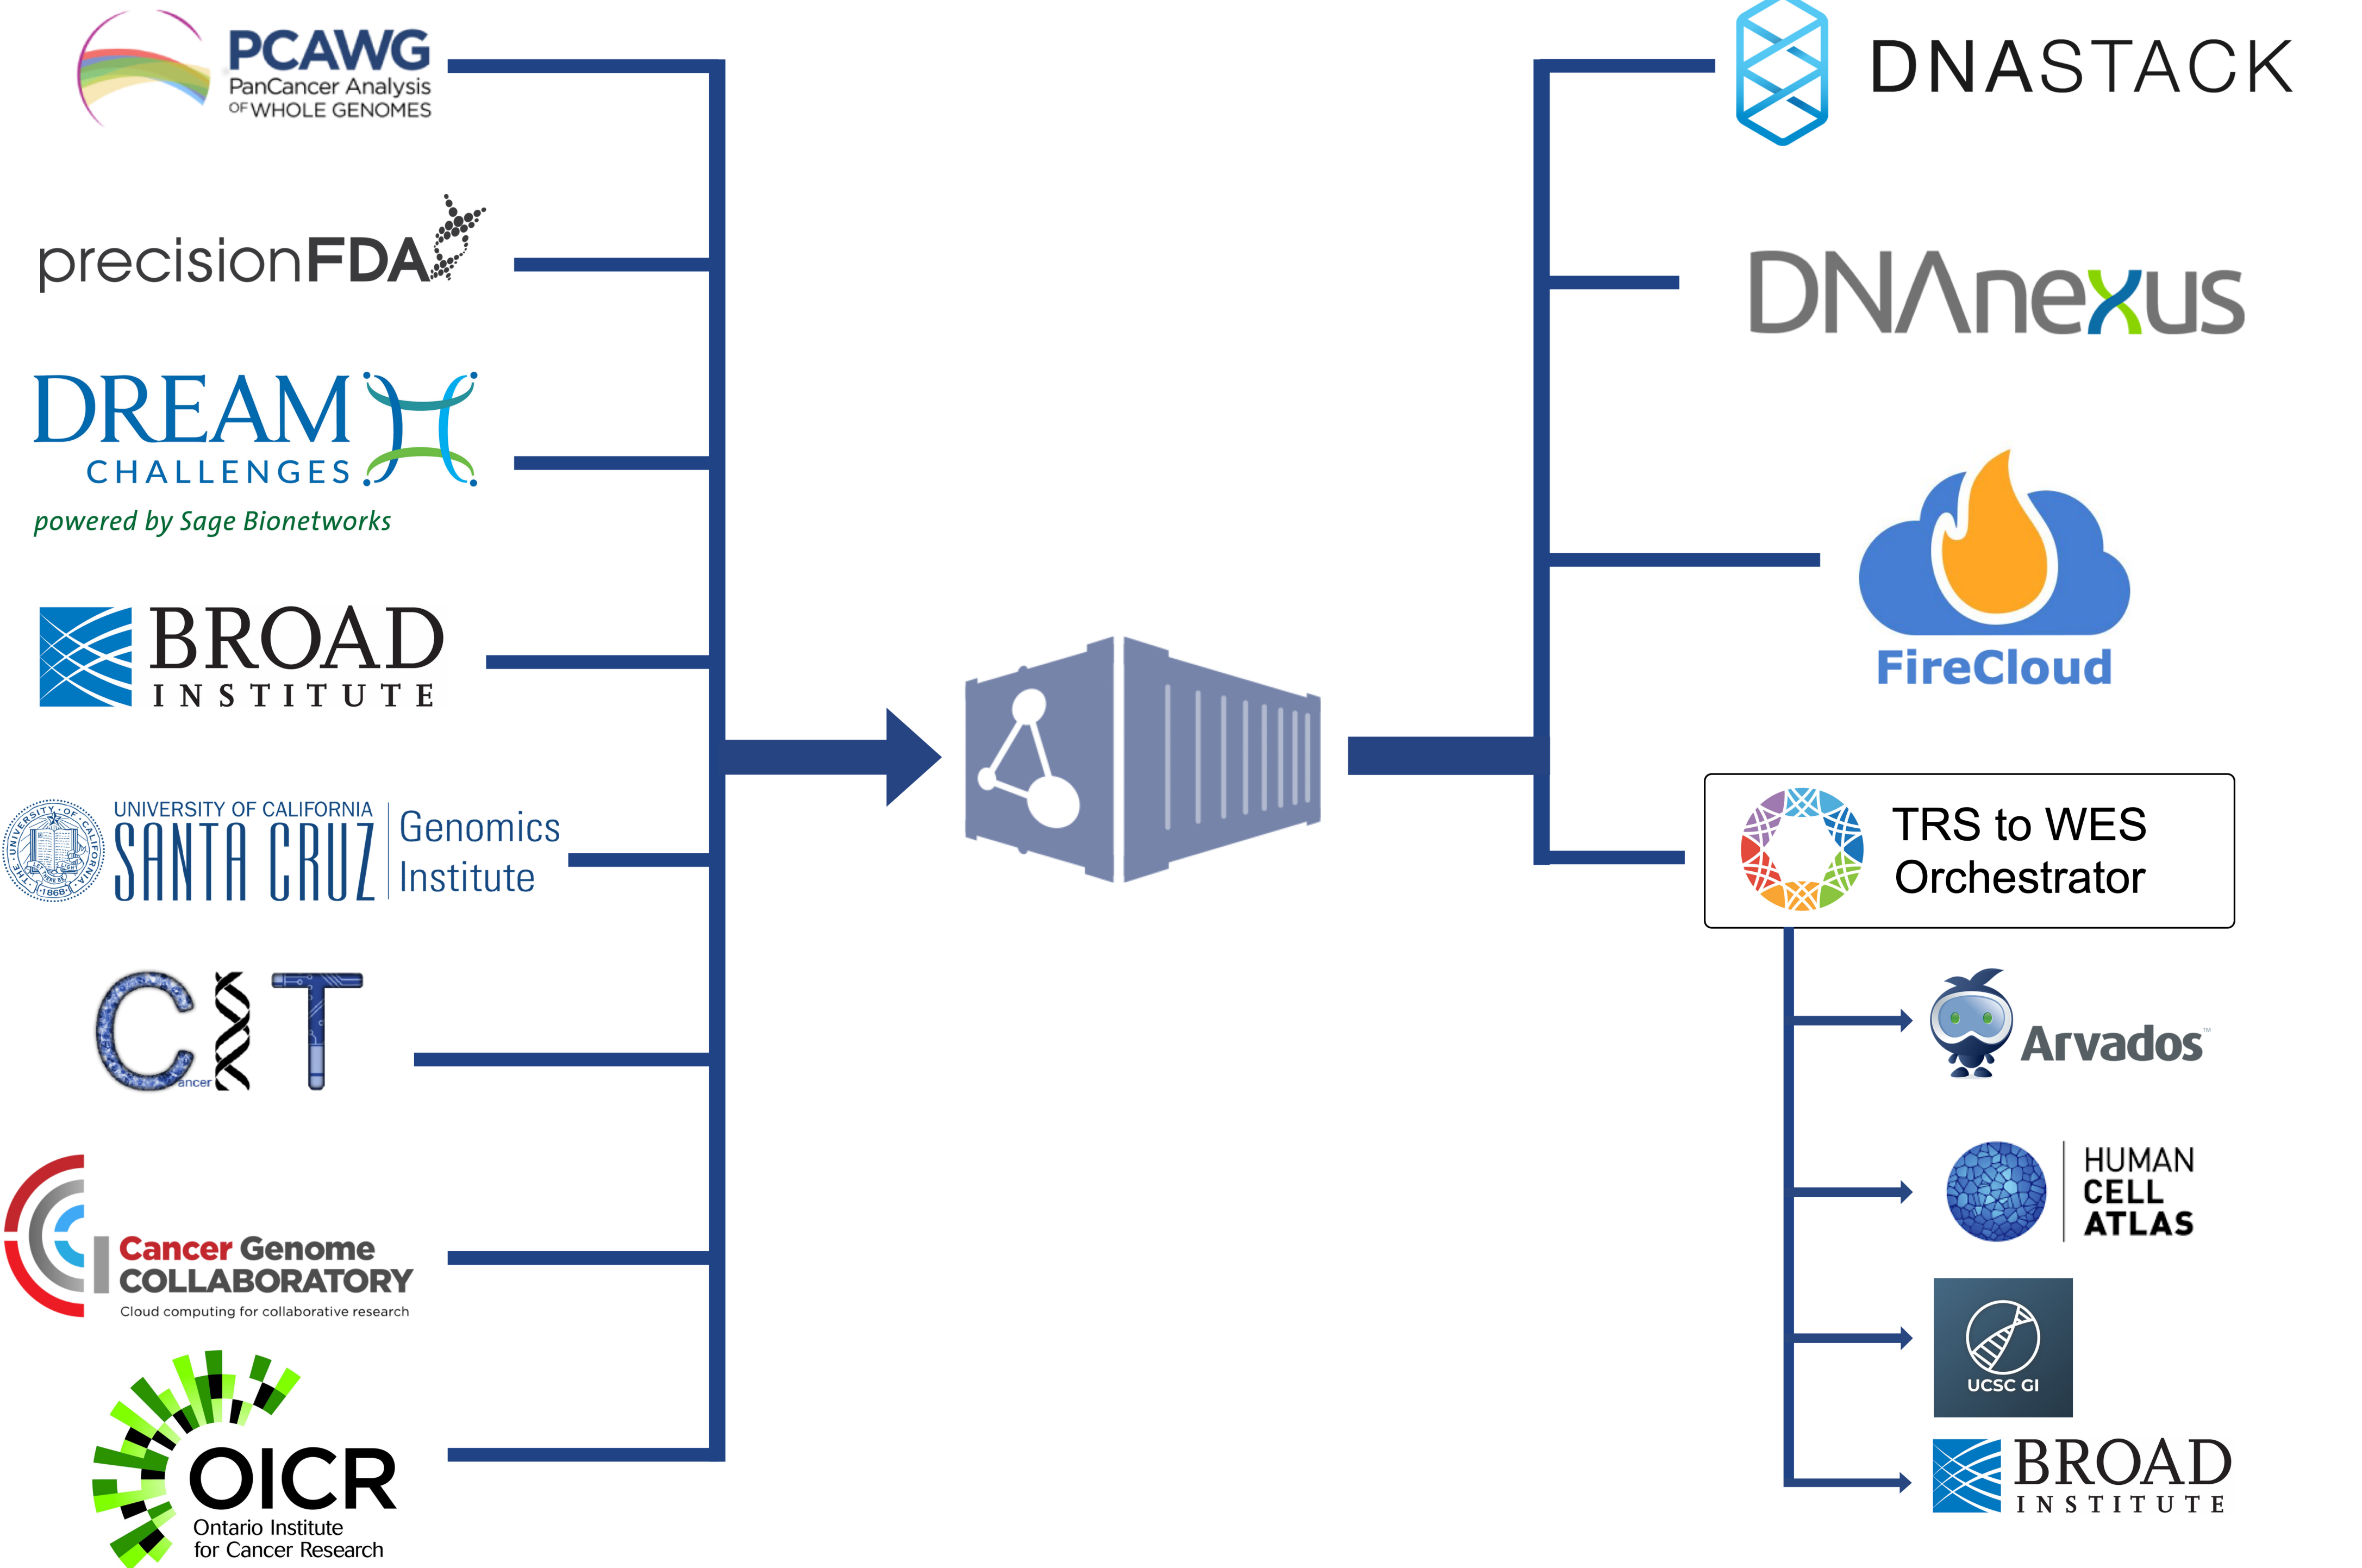

Supports popular languages such as Common Workflow Language (CWL), Workflow Description Language (WDL) and Nextflow, providing systematic ways to describe, parametrize, and call tools across a variety of software and hardware environments.

For more information visit <https://dockstore.org/>

Select Contributors and Integrations

In affiliation with:

Support for Dockstore is provided by grants from Genome Canada, the National Institutes of Health, and the Province of Ontario.